I'm not typically a huge fan of tower defense, but this game. So much fun!! Found myself scrambling to keep up with the pace (in a good way). The feeling when you see FAIL message I found myself thinking, "ok cool, I GET to do this level over. What should I change in my loadout?". The first few levels were great, was like a tutorial, but not. Just felt like the game was teaching me how to play, without teaching me how to play. Only played through about 15 levels so far. definitely worth the price.. I'm not typically a huge fan of tower defense, but this game. So much fun!! In PlanTechTor you jump into the role of the Sole gate keeper to the Castle in an immersive VR fusion of in-depth strategy and high-octane action! You can design weapon load-outs with several different abilities and an endless amount of weapon combinations that effects the damage modifiers of each weapon. The game is simple in design but real deep in character. The graphics are clean and not demanding for smooth FPS. With rock solid gameplay mechanics and built in options like in game height adjustment so the whole family can play with out having to leave the game, to include multiple languages to cater to the masses. The developer left no stone upturned. I would recommend this game to anybody. Check out my quick look video right here. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gNMIYKwzPN4&t=22s>. PlanTechtor - If you like strategy or tower defense games then you won't be disappointed! In this game you are the tower with 3 weapons to choose from, a bow, dual pistols and a rocket launcher. and you have to defeat the onslaught of enemies to defend your castle. The controls are smooth and intuitive, graphics are cartoonish but look really good and compliment the game nicely. But where this game really stands out is in the skills and abilities you can unlock and equip to your weapons, you can equip skills like fire damage (aka DOT), ice damage (aka slow) or target dummies.ect. then you can go deeper and equip abilities that augment how your skills work and how they interact with each other to create combos to maximize your damage output against the waves of enemies. Experimenting and finding out what works and what doesn't is a lot of fun, I'm already hooked..
